Sues Railroad Company—

Mary E. Smith, by her attorney L. C. Baker, has filed suit in common pleas court against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for $370 says the Massillon News.

The plaintiff for cause of action says that the defendant, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company is a corporation duly incorporated under the laws of Maryland operating a line of railroad and conducting the business of a common carrier from Mt. Vernon to Mansfield and Shelby and other points.

That on Sept. 2, 1909, plaintiff delivered to the defendant and the defendant received as much common carrier at Mt. Vernon, to carry and deliver to plaintiff at Gallon, which last mentioned place is connected with the defendant's line of railroad by other common carrier railroads, the goods and chattels described in the paper marked "Exhibit A" and made part of the property of plaintiff, of the value of $1200 and it is thereby become defendant's duty to carry the goods safely and deliver the same.

But it is alleged that the defendant did not safely carry and deliver the goods, but wrongfully and negligently failed so to do, whereupon some of the goods were lost; some were broken and some were soiled, torn, bruised, soiled by coal tar or other substance, all to the plaintiff's damage in the sum of $370.

Wherefore the plaintiff asks a judgment against the defendant in the sum of $370 with interest and costs.

FOE

In Politics In Ohio To Hear Trials

(Columbus Journal.)

Former Common Pleas Judges H. L. McCray and Robert M. Campbell, leaders of the Ashland county bar, will have to be tried on criminal indictments before their political enemy, Judge William T. Devor, as a result of the action of the supreme court for an mandatory injunction restraining Judge Devor from presiding at their trials. The high court refused to hear their appeals because of an alleged neglect in properly preparing their cases.

Judge McCray, who is more than seventy years of age was indicted for embezzling $302.50 from L. H. Beckley, Aug. 20, 1906, while Judge Campbell was indicted for presenting a forged receipt for $2,400 to the executor of the Mary Freer estate. The two filed affidavits in the Ashland county common pleas court, alleging that Judge Devor was prejudiced against them. They asked a change of venue and an injunction restraining him from presiding over their trials. The Ashland County common pleas and circuit courts decided against them.

WOODS BILL IN FOR HOT FIGHT

Reported Back to House Without Recommendation.

LEAN MEASURE FARES BETTER

Is Recommended For Passage by Senate Committee With Only One Dissenting Vote — Freiner Promises Sensation In Office of Game and Fish Commission—Dairymen Lose Tempers When Assailing Bill to Use Oleomargarine in State Institutions.

Columbus, O., March 2.—With only one dissenting vote the house committee on railroads and telegraphs reported out the Woods public utilities bill without recommendation or amendment. Therefore it will be a fight to a finish when the measure is considered on the floor of the house.

With a recommendation for passage, the Dean Rose option law amendment, permitting cities voting wet to retain their saloons when the rest of the county goes dry, was returned to the senate, Senator Lawyer casting the only vote against the favorable recommendation. Senator Ceterone made an unsuccessful attempt to have the bill considered in executive session. The Dean bill has been made a special order of business in the senate next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and was put on the calendar for final consideration the following Thursday.

There will be an explosion in the house and the farmers will have an inning when the hunters' license bill comes up. Representative John R. Freiner is on the warpath after the fish and game commission and the game warden. He claims to have game material that will call for an investigation by the committee that is now probing the state fire marshal's office.

Dairymen Show Their Temper.

A sizzling hearing on the Schurr bill to allow state institutions to purchase oleo was held before the house committee on dairy and food products in State Dairy and Food Commissioner Dunlap's office. Dairymen from all over the state were present to fight the bill. They made a sensational attack upon the newspapers and the legislature growing out of the published statements regarding the causes of high prices and declared that the legislative food probe was a joke, that the committee was a joke, and that any bills which the latter might introduce would be jokes. They declared that this whole food investigation was the veriest kind of a farce. They denied that there would be anything like the saving claimed for the state if the institutions were allowed to purchase oleo instead of butter. The dairymen called the other side liars, though they did not use the short and ugly term, but that is what they meant, all right, all right.

Representative Schurr was on hand to defend his bill and he gave as good as he got. He quoted figures to show that the bill would enable the state to save thousands of dollars each year. He also stated that tests in about 2,000 cases by the city sealer of weights and measures showed that the average shortage in one-pound butter packages as furnished by the creameries was one ounce. This statement was not relished by the dairymen.

The dairymen were represented in the arguments by T. C. Laylin, master of the state grange; A. S. Neal of Macedonia, president of the State Dairymen's association; John D. Nichols of Cleveland, former president of the association; Professor Oscar Erf of the Ohio State University, and L. P. Bailey of Tacoma, Belmont county, whom Governor Harmon did not reappoint as member of the state agricultural board.

Two Killed, One Missing and Six Injured as Result.

Pittsburg, March 2.—At a point 1,000 feet east of the Rock Point station, on the Erie and Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania railroad, a passenger train left the track and plunged into the Beaver river. The engine and baggage car were almost submerged, the smoking car was hurled on its side on the river bank, and one coach and a Pullman car were left standing across the tracks.

Two persons were killed, one is missing and six were injured. The dead: William C. Hallis, 34, South Sharon, railroad detective; Herman Mains, Rock Springs, struck by truck of wrecked engine and crushed; Earl Ray, baggage master, of Linesville, body supposed to be in submerged car.

COUNTY OPTION

ISSUE IN MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Minn., March 2.—Owing to the fact that county option is expected to play a prominent part in the coming State campaign, Minnesota politicians of both parties are much interested in the results of the county option convention which opened today under the auspices of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon League. Of late the county option movement has gathered such strength that it can no longer be ignored by the politicians. Candidates for State offices in the coming election will be required to declare their attitude in regard to the question. Several of the aspirants for the governorship have already stated their views. Those of Governor Eberhart, who will be a candidate for renomination, are not satisfactory to the anti-saloon leaguers, and unless he changes his stand the county option forces will likely go on record as opposed to his re-election. William E. Lee, another candidate for the governorship, has spoken favorably of the movement, but he is not likely to receive the endorsement of the county option advocates until he comes out stronger. If none of the Republican candidates prove satisfactory the Democratic ticket may receive the solid county option support.
